Karen: Your keys were in a pocket of your jeans in the laundry basket, will bring back tomorrow :)
me: makes sense
me: make sure I have $500 in my bank account, need to pay for the ProjectPM server for two years Karen: OK just did that.
me: and do you have anything in your e-mails that would tell me what that new password to Paypal is?
Karen: No? I closed down my paypal accounts after noticing fraudulent activity around the holidays.
Karen: Why don't you just send him a check?
me: do you know what my chase password is?
me: for the website?
Karen: nope, don't you check your chase account periodically?
me: not lately, nope. I'll just change the password
